The Advisory Council has met and is developing a list of priorities and recommendations on short-term and longer-term initiatives to assist the business community in building an economy stronger than before COVID-19.

We look forward to working with the GNWT to ensure prosperity. We encourage the Government of the Northwest Territories to take a balanced and inclusive approach to easing restrictions and take into consideration people's health and the value that Northern and Indigenous businesses bring to the NWT.

The Advisory Council recommends strong political leadership as any reopening plan will involve taking bold and calculated risks for social and economic recovery. Our goal is to emerge stronger than when we entered the unfortunate lockdown of our businesses and borders, affecting industry.

We are encouraged by the desire of the Government of Northwest Territories to engage the business community on a path forward. The Advisory Council is committed to the development and refinement of recommendations and the proposal of practical solutions that are in the best interest of the business community for the Executive Council to consider.
